

Transition Resources Library for Remote Learning

Webinar Series

This webinar series will highlight transition resources that are available in the Student-Centered Transitions Network's (SCTN) Transition Resources Library for Remote Learning. Participants will learn about different resources from national transition centers, the Texas Education Agency, Education Service Centers, and local school districts/charters that provides educators with transition information and tools to support meaningful transition through remote instruction and experiences. Information will be included in each webinar about how educators can also submit resources to be included in the library.
